DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1, 3-7, 8-15, 19, 21, 23-25, 26, 27-30, 35, drawn to 1st method, preventing non-polio enterovirus diseases by administering oral polio vaccine.

Group II, claim(s) 2, 20, 22, 23-25, 26, drawn to 2nd method, preventing type 1 diabetes mellitus by administering oral polio vaccine.

Group III, claim(s) 16-18, 31-34, drawn to composition and method using serotype-specific non-polio enterovirus vaccine.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Groups I and II use same composition to prevent materially different diseases. Processes of manufacturing and administering oral polio vaccine are both old in the art, therefore the only feature of the invention which potentially defines over the art is the new target disease for which prophylaxis is intended using the old vaccine. Since type I diabetes mellitus is not generally accepted as being an enterovirus disease (see as evidence Fohlman et al, page 104, first paragraph), the methods of preventing enterovirus diseases and the methods of preventing type I diabetes mellitus are seen as involving distinct technical features.

Art Unit: 1648

Group III lacks a common technical feature with group I, since it uses a different vaccine.

Group III contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species of vaccine:

Coxsackie B serotype 1

Coxsackie B serotype 2

Coxsackie B serotype 3

Coxsackie B serotype 4

Coxsackie B serotype 5

Coxsackie B serotype 6

Coxsackie A serotype 9

Coxsackie A serotype 16

Echovirus serotype 3

Echovirus serotype 4

Echovirus serotype 6

Echovirus serotype 9

Echovirus serotype 11

Echovirus serotype 22

Echovirus serotype 30

Species of disease :

Non-polio enterovirus disease

Type I diabetes

Applicant is required, if group III is elected, to elect a single species of vaccine and a single species of disease, to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: As discussed above, since type I diabetes is not generally accepted as an enterovirus disease, it is seen as distinct from enterovirus diseases. Each species of virus serotype involves a distinct immune response, particularly because the claims require the vaccine to be serotype-specific.

Therefore each species of virus has technical features distinct from each of the other species of virus.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
